On January 9, 2006, and January 30, 2006, the Post Office returned to the court, as undeliverable, two Orders that had been sent to plaintiff at the King County Jail. (Doc. #15, #20). Apparently, plaintiff had been transferred to the Washington State Penitentiary and failed to inform the court of his current mailing address, as required by Local Rule CR 41(b)(2). The court learned of plaintiff's new address only by noticing that defendants included the new address in a certificate of service attached to their recent filings. (Doc. #23). In light of the above, the court does hereby find and ORDER as follows:

(1) Plaintiff is advised that failure to inform the court of his current address could result in dismissal of this action without prejudice. See Local Rule CR 41(b)(2). Plaintiff is ORDERED
